Ground-based programs for youth (no climbs)

What participants should expect

Through a series of group games and team challenges, your group will have the opportunity to play, think creatively, work as a team, and be both physically and mentally challenged. Activities may incorporate low-ropes structures (i.e. balancing beams, wooden platforms, suspended cables), or props (i.e. traffic cones, balls, or even a rubber chicken). While many activities have a physical component to them, physical strength and fitness are not a basis for achieving success. Our team of enthusiastic facilitators will also incorporate age-appropriate reflective conversations to spark learning take-aways and supportive shout-outs to their teammates. This program does not include opportunities to climb the high ropes structures.

Suggested Items to Wear & Bring

1. Refillable water bottle
2. Sun protection, such as a hat, sunglasses, and sunscreen
3. Athletic shoes that are close-toed, close-heeled, and have a sturdy sole
4. Personal snacks (i.e. granola bar, apple)
5. Clothing:
  - a. Something you can easily move in and are okay with possibly getting dirty
  - b. Pants are recommended instead of shorts, even in warm weather, as this provides better skin protection from things like sun burn, scrapes, bug bites, etc.
  - c. Layers to adapt to cooler temperatures, wind, or precipitation

COVID-19 Mitigation Practices

As information and guidance is constantly changing, we encourage everyone to check current guidance from the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health and UCLA a few days prior to your scheduled program. Included below are our current measures, which are subject to change.

1. In order to access the facility, everyone must show their clearance certificate from the UCLA COVID-19 Symptom Monitoring and Vaccination Verification System. This may be displayed on a phone.
2. For your convenience, we will provide hand washing stations, hand sanitizer, and disposable masks for your use during the program.

Understand

1. Participation is voluntary. Staff will present group games, activities, and initiatives. You choose if and how you want to participate. In most, if not all, activities there are options for adaptations and differing degrees of participation. The choice is yours.
2. Challenge courses and related activities are inherently risky. The staff are trained in and prioritize risk management. However, you are in charge of your own safety. Challenge course activities, whether on/near the ground or involving climbing, are inherently risky. It is possible to get hurt. Risks include mild injuries (i.e. splinters, scrapes, bruises), moderate injuries (broken bones), severe/life-altering injuries (paralysis, blindness), and even death. Activities can evoke strong emotional and physiological responses. You must follow all staff instructions, choose the level of participation that you are comfortable with, and plan an active role in managing your personal safety.
3. All participants must sign a waiver prior to participating, and minors must have a parent/guardian signature on their waiver. A copy of the is attached to this document.

FAQ

“Challenge course...” Is that like an obstacle course?

Nope. No racing across hurdles, crawling under barbed wire, or shimmying up ropes here. The UCLA Challenge Course is an outdoor facility for adventurous play, experiential education, and team/community building. Think more “summer camp” and less “boot camp.”

I have an injury, medical condition, special need, or accommodation. Can I still participate?

Injuries and medical conditions: You should consult your medical care provider for guidance on what kinds of activities you should or should not participate in, and make your choices accordingly.

Special needs and accommodations: The challenge course staff aim to make your experience as accessible and inclusive as possible. They can modify activities, provide varying options for participation, and otherwise plan a series of activities that accommodate a given special need. Advance notice is most helpful. The person making the reservation can provide the challenge course staff with special need details during the reservation process, or you may email challenge@recreation.ucla.edu to share and discuss directly.
